January 2011

Dear Supervisor,

At its annual conference, NAOSMM honors one of its members as the Outstanding Scientific Materials Manager of the Year. To be eligible for this distinction, the recipient must have demonstrated distinguished operational, educational or administrative activity, must have contributed to the advancement of the profession and must have been an active participant of NAOSMM. The Manager of the Year receives a plaque and one of our sponsors, Kimble-Chase, honors the recipient with a beautiful piece of Frabel glassware. Members who have received recognition are proud of this special honor and cherish this as a highlight of their career.

The NAOSMM Awards Committee is currently accepting nominations for this award. We realize that you, the employer, know best the performance of your employee or co-worker. If you believe that the NAOSMM member at your workplace is worthy of nomination for this honor and you would like more information, please contact Teresa Arnold, Awards Committee Chair, at:

All nomination materials must be received by May 25. Please note that the recipient of the award remains confidential until the annual conference banquet.

Sincerely,

NAOSMM Awards Committee
